

The Department of Social Sciences at Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf invites applications for a Full Professorship (W 3 salary level) in Sociology (in forestall succession to Michael Baurmann) to take up appointment on 01 October 2014.

The candidate is expected to cover the entire scope of the field, especially in Sociological Theory.

Further requirements include excellent research skills, an outstanding publication record, willingness to publish in internationally renowned specialized journals, willingness to acquire competitive third-party funding, and good standing in the international academic community. We expect commitment to participation in departmental and integrative courses of study, as well as the willingness to participate in the empirical research projects of the Department of Social Sciences.

The successful candidate will demonstrate an excellent teaching record in Sociology through a teaching portfolio, course evaluations, and certificates of university-level pedagogical qualifications, and is expected to have a strong commitment to participation in academic administrative activities. The candidate is expected to demonstrate an outstanding publication record in internationally renowned specialized journals. International research experience will be an advantage.

Conditions for employment are, in addition to general administrative conditions in accordance with § 36 of the North Rhine-Westphalia University Act (Gesetz über die Hochschulen des Landes Nordrhein-Westfalen), an aptitude for teaching, exceptional competence in research, and additional scientific achievements.

Female candidates are encouraged to apply; they will be given preference in cases of equal aptitude, ability, and professional achievements unless there are exceptional reasons for choosing another applicant.

Applications from suitably qualified severely disabled persons or disabled persons regarded as being of equal status according to Book IX of the German Social Legal Code (SGB – Soziales Gesetzbuch) are encouraged.

At Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf, appointments may also be part-time, provided there are no overriding administrative reasons in individual cases for requiring full-time employment.
